

Time is the most valuable thing one can spend.

With that in mind, I sincerely thank you for spending a minute or two learning about local Internet marketing. Since your firm targets a specific locale, I expect your time will be richly rewarded.

It's our mission to maximize your Web visibility among those in your area searching for the services your practice offers.

Personally speaking (I'm Don Kaufman, president of KlikTru), I consider this a sort of entrepreneurial therapy. So pull up a virtual couch, throw your feet up and tell us what you hope to accomplish via the Web. But rest assured, we don't charge $200 an hour :)

Looking forward to our next session...